

POWERING HYPERGROWTH

$15 BILLION HEDGE FUND
PARTNERS WITH AGIO TO BOOST IN-HOUSE IT SUCCESS

PICTURE THIS...

You're a $15 billion hedge fund experiencing explosive growth. You've evolved from a startup with ten employees in a single location to a global enterprise firm with over 200 employees.

Agio has been your reliable partner from day one, providing disaster recovery, data protection, security filters, and more to meet baseline needs. As your growth went into overdrive, they kept pace, helping you scale with flexible cloud solutions and on-site end-user support.

Along the way, you built a talented but lean internal IT team. Unfortunately, your breakneck pace is stretching those resources thin. Luckily, Agio is here to help.

GROWTH & PARTNERSHIP

Aggressive expansion means new offices and employees. Those infrastructure demands pose new challenges for your in-house engineers. They're bumping up against the limits of expertise across critical technologies and need more time for complex troubleshooting and long-term strategic projects.

You're not panicking because you know Agio has your back. Their engineers jump in and work hand-in-hand with your team, filling any urgent gaps in knowledge and resources. Agio sees the big picture and uses extensive experience to pinpoint and streamline processes and solutions. Your team is free to focus on priorities that drive organizational success.

CHALLENGES & SOLUTIONS

With all this quick, decentralized growth, inconsistencies start to bubble up. Users struggle with remote access and desk availability. Servers and devices lack standardized security controls and patching. Data center misconfiguration creates widespread issues.

Agio engineers are at the ready. They help you set up virtual desktops and group policies, so your people have reliable remote access—even when the office is bursting at the seams. Plus, Agio handles the user support requests while helping your team get up to speed. Nice.

When issues pop up that stump even your top-notch engineers, Agio draws on their experience working with hundreds of investment firms like yours to quickly get to the bottom of things and get you back on track—saving tons of investigation time. Your infrastructure is in shape, and security is tight. Most importantly, Agio educates your team on what happened so they can avoid future missteps.
